QA

freelance
(Chișinău), IT, Internet

Together with a team of developers, designers, and editors, we create new advertising web resources or enhance existing ones. These resources enable users to promote necessary products across social media networks, internet platforms, and more. My direct task is the final outcome and the quality of the developed product, which determines its conversion rate.
Applying automation testing tools like Selenium using Java.
Performing manual functional testing to verify the functionality of applications.
Regression testing.
Conducting testing in the early stages of development to identify and resolve issues.
Preparing and providing reports on completed tests and identified issues.
Proposing and implementing methods and practices aimed at improving product quality.
Adding verified advertising resources to the system.
